

About the Author

Joachim Fana Lance Mureriwa, Ph.D., BCIA-EEG, was born in Chirumanzu District, Zimbabwe, and is married with three daughters. He graduated with a BSc (Psychology) Honours degree and an MSc (Clinical Psychology) degree from the University of Zimbabwe. After qualifying as a clinical psychologist in 1985, he worked as a clinical psychologist at Ingutsheni Psychiatric Hospital in Bulawayo, as well as in private practice. Later, he worked as a Research Fellow and a lecturer at the University of Zimbabwe, where he was mostly involved in teaching physiological psychology and neuropsychology. He immigrated to South Africa in 1992 and lectured at the Medical University of Southern Africa (Medunsa) and the University of South Africa (UNISA). His doctorate, awarded by the University of South Africa, was on traumatic brain injury and the post-concussion syndrome. He has made several publications including chapters in two university textbooks.

Joachim Mureriwa is a board certified EEG biofeedback therapist (Biofeedback Certification Institute of America – BCIA). He currently works full time as a clinical psychologist in private practice in Pretoria, focussing mainly on quantitative EEG, neuropsychology, and biofeedback. In March 2010, Joachim Mureriwa was elected as President of the South African Clinical Neuropsychological Association (SACNA) (www.sacna.co.za) for a two-year term.

Away from work, Joachim Mureriwa enjoys playing a guitar, travel, and spending time out in the countryside.
